Hoping that you are fine today.

My contacting you is regarding a contract that was awarded to my company AU Contractors by the South African Government.

Under the terms and condition of the contract signed between my company and the Government, the contract requires the involvement of a foreign company, who will represent my company as a foreign partner to team up with my company for the completion of the project, which is inline with the final contract payment, involving the sum of £10,500,000.00. I decide to contact you and your company since my company does not have any foreign company to handle this contract at the moment.

Please if you or your company could be able to join my company as partners in completing this project with the South African Government, then you should contact me as urgent as possible so that I can link you up with the concerned department in the Government for further enquiries, negotiations and proceeding as they are waiting for my company to provide them with my foreign agent.

For security reasons, I can only send you my company website and project Reference Number once I receive your positive response.

Waiting for your call or email for the confirmation of this notification.
